Next Steps

Congratulations on completing your internship with the Applied Behavioral Sciences Department!

Update your résumé to list your internship and while it is still fresh. Contact Career Services as 937-775-2556 to schedule an appointment to discuss your résumé and how to incorporate your internship on it.

Contact supervisors from your internship who would be able to serve as a reference for you. Have them write you a letter of recommendation now while they still remember all the great work you did for your internship (if you wait until you need the letter, this supervisor may have worked with several interns in that period and will have forgotten some of the specifics of your experience). Stay in touch with these supervisors throughout the remainder of your college experience, as they may be the person who can help you get a job down the road.

Interviewing is also an important step in the job search process where you can highlight your recent internship to demonstrate relevant experience. Call Career Services to schedule a Mock Interview.

Attend a Recruiting Day event and network with employers to discuss internships and full time career employment opportunities. Visit http://career.wright.edu and click on Events Calendar for more information.

A 2010 survey of employers conducted by NACE (National Association of Colleges and Employers), found that 44.6 percent of the recent graduates from the class of 2009 hired by these employers came from their own internship programs. In the 2011 survey conducted by NACE it was found that full-time employees who had participated in their organization’s internship program while in college were more likely to be retained than those who were hired without having participated in such a program (75.8% versus 60.7% after one year).
