

COLA Weekly

NOVEMBER 30, 2018

Earlier this month the classics faculty hosted their fifth Latin Day with nearly 80 Latin students in attendance from four area high schools – Butler, Carroll, Fairmont, and Northwestern – plus three students from a home school consortium. The day was engaging and interactive; students escaped from an Egyptian temple using hieroglyphics, designed their own Roman frontier villa, learned about tactics used in the Punic Wars, and simulated the barbarian invasions which ended the Roman Empire. The day wrapped up with lunch and a trivia contest. This event connected COLA to the community in such a positive way. A special thank you to Rebecca Edwards for organizing Latin Day with assistance from Bruce Laforse, Jeannie Marchand, Aaron Wolpert, and Shawn Daniels, as well as Greek and Latin students.

Jeremy Long's Paintings and Drawings show is currently on display at Fairmont State University in Fairmont, West Virginia. The show includes a wide variety of work and will be on display in Wallman Hall through December 6. You can see work by other Wright State art faculty on display in our very own Robert and Elaine Stein Galleries during the Faculty Exhibition that runs through Sunday, December 9 and includes a reception on Sunday, December 2, 4:00 – 5:30 p.m.

The Fall Student Dance Concert will be held Friday, December 7 at 8:00 p.m. and Saturday, December 8 at 2:00 p.m. in the Dance Studio in the Creative Arts Center. No tickets are required for this mixed repertory dance concert with styles ranging from lyrical to hip-hop, all choreographed by our own dance majors.

This week's featured DSAB member is Beth Lenz. Beth is a political science major and a design/technology minor. At 19 years old, they spent their first year of college working with the Office of LGBTQA Affairs on campus inside the Community Engagement Room as a community engagement coordinator. While their freshman year was spent doing Our Voice Panels, running an Affinity Network on campus, and working as the Office of LGBTQA Affairs social media coordinator, they are excited to branch out and work with COLA to engage new students and help their voices be heard.
